The Porterfields to South Sudan Prayer Letter November/December 2019 Update

Dear Family, Friends, and Supporting Churches,

It is hard to believe that we are already half a month into the New Year. We hope everyone was able to fully enjoy the holidays and time spent with loved ones. We were most certainly grateful for the blessing of family and friends as we closed out 2019. God has been very gracious to our ministry this year in spite of different ups and downs, and we are excited about what He has planned for 2020.

Beth's Blessings, our daughter's Christmas project to raise money for families in Africa, was a huge blessing to the many families it benefitted. A sincere thank you to all of those who invested and gave.

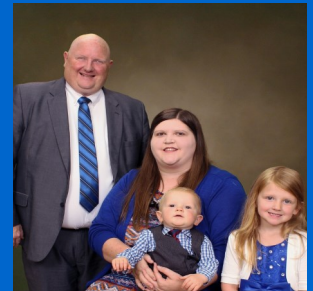

James and Abby Baxter took a survey trip to Uganda this past month. They are a young couple preparing to work alongside our ministry upon completion of deputation as the Lord leads. They were able to be involved with a distribution of Bibles to local government officials in Adjuman as well as the delivery of chickens and goats for the Beth's Blessings project. Both are also very talented at working with children and held a mini vacation Bible school while in the country. We are grateful for their labor of love. Please keep the Baxter family in your prayers.

The work in Venezuela has seen God's hand of blessing in recent days as briefly mentioned in our last prayer letter. In spite of the great opposition by the Venezuelan government, the work continues to move forward. Pastor Carlos and the other national pastors are working diligently to see the Gospel spread to every part of the country. We are praying that God would provide support for 2-4 more national families to be involved with the church planting in Venezuela.

Our family has been under the weather for the majority of this new year. Please pray that everyone recovers quickly and that our home would be able to get back into a more normal swing of things. As always, we are grateful for each of you and your faithful support and prayers for the Lord's work.

In Christ,

The Porterfield Family
